PLAIN AND FANCY BOOK AND JOB PRINTING IF BILL-HEADS, VISITING, BUSINESS AND ADDRESS

"I Have Drank My Last Glass."

CARDS printed in the highest style of the art.

No, comrades, I thank you, not any for me; My last chain is riven, henceforward I'm free! I will go to my home and my children to-night With no fames of liquor their spirits to blight, And with tears in my eyes, I will beg my poor wife To forgive me the wreck I have made of her life! "I have never refused you before !" Let that pass, For I've drank my last glass, boys, I have drank my last glass!

Just look at me now, boys, in rags and disgrace, With my bleared, haggard eyes, and my red bloated face! Mark my faltering step and my weak, paleted hand, And the mark on my brow that is worse than Cain's brand; See my er whiese old hat, and my elbows and knees Alike warmed by the sun or chilled by the breeze; Why, even the children will hoot as I pass-

But I've drank my last glass, boys, I have drank my just glass !

You would hardly believe, boys, to look at me now, That a mother's soft hand was once pressed on my brow, When she kissed me, and blessed me, her darling, her pride, Ere she lay down to rest by my dead father's side; But with love in her eyes, she looked up to the sky, Bidding me meet her there, and whispered, "Good bye." And Pil do it, God helping ! Your smile I let pass, For I've drank my last glass, boys, I have drank my last glass!

Ah! I recled home last night-it was not very late, For I'd spent my last six pence, and landlord's won't wait On a fellow who's left every cent in their till, And has pawned his last bed, their coffers to fill, Oh! the torments I felt, and the pangs I endured! And I begget for one glass-just one would have cured; But they kicked me out doors-I let that, too, pass, For I've drank my last glass, boys, I have drank my last glass !

At home, my pet, Susie, with her soft golden hair, I saw through the window, just kneeling in prayer; From her pale, bony hands, her torn sleeves were strung While her feet, cold and bare, shrank beneath her scant gown;

And she prayed-prayed for bread, just a poor crust of bread, For one crust-on her knees, my pet darling plead, And I heard, with no penny to buy one, alas! But I've drank my last glass, boys, I've drank my last glass!

For Susie, my darling, my wee six year old, Though fainting with hunger and shivering with cold, There, on the bare floor, asked God to bless me ! And she said, "Don't cry, mamma! He will! for you see, I believe what I ask for ?" Then, sobered, I crept way from the house; and that night, when I slept Next my heart lay the Pledge ! You smile ! Let it pass, But I've drank my last glass, boys,-I have drank my last glass !

My darling child saved me! Her faith and her love Are akin to my dear sainted mother's above ! I will make her words true, or I'll die in the race, And sober I'll go to my last resting place; And she shall kneel there, and, weeping, thank God No drunkard lies under that daisy strewn sod ! Not a drop more of poison my lips shall ere pass, For I've drank my last glass, boys, I have drank my last glass !

Do accountants get much exercise running up columns?

The following notice is posted conspicuously in a Scotch office: "Shot the door, and when you have done talking on business serve your mouth the same way.

Donn Piatt: A medical exchange says that many men, if they can't get whisky, will get drunk off ether. "How happy could they be with ether were t'other dear charmer away!'

A Scotchman being asked by hismi nister, "What kind of a man was Adam?" replied. " Oh, just like ither folk." The minister insisted upon having a more special description. "Weel, naebody got anything by him, and many

A prisoner before the Judge Peters the other day, in Oxford county (Me.) was asked if he had anything to say before sentence. His limbs were unsteady and his eyes were set, but he got on his feet and politely inquired, "'Pon what subject would your Honor be pleased to have me dress the Court?" Judge Peters did not press' the request. " Pa, did you tell lies when you were little?" The father endeavored to evade the question.

The child persisted. * "Did you tell lies when you were little?" "Well, no," said the father; "but why do a Did ma tell lies when she was little?" "I dont know, my son; you must ask her." " Well," retorted the young hopeful, " one of must of told lies, or you could not have had a boy that would do it.' Danbury News: A young Danbury boy proposed to his father that he go a fishing, but his father had other business for him that day. "Father," said the young man, "do you know what Solomon said about boys going fishing?" "Solomon didn't say anything about it," re-plied the parent. "Yes, he did. He saied if you spare the rod you spoil the child." "I won't spare it," said the old gentleman, promptly. And he didn't, but the son thinks he got hold of the wrong end. BARNUM is profoundly dejected, according to the Commercial Advertiser. The United States beat him at the show business, and he can never recover from the mortification of the defeat nor forgive his ungrateful country. When last seen he was driving a pair of woolly horses, in company with a rhinoceros, in striped pants, with paper collar, clutching a borrowed umbrella in his paws. There was speculation in the old showman's eyes.

The Kankakee (III) Gazette bursts out over a local episode as follows: "There were thirty-one entries at the baby show at the Will county fair. There were babies lean and babies fat; babies named Ethel and babies named Pat; babies long and babies short, some with a howl and some with a snort; as ugly as Satan and homely as sin, each baby surrounded by all its kin. Such a mob! Such a breeze! And to think of being a committeeman on those babies! Why, they were thirty women after the show who declared in the most excited and murderous manner that the man never lived who knew anything, anyhow !"

A BLACK Ere.-When a man is splitting wood and a stick flies up and blacks his eye, he must prepare to endure all the taunts and jeers which the world inflicts on a pirate. Social standing counts for nothing, and dignity can't be made a mantle of. The other day, when a compositor on this paper took up his little ax and broke a stick in two and one end flew into his eye, he knew that he must either remain in the house for two weeks or go out and face the world's sneers. He decided to face the sneers, and during one short half-day he noted down the follow-

"It's all right; of course it was a stick of wood. Oh, yes." " Been fighting again, eh?"

" Well, who knocked you down this time?" "Oh, I've had the same thing ail my eye, and I always laid it to a stick of wood." " Ha, ha. The policeman struck hard, didn't

"Of course it was a stick of wood-ye-he-Then there were some people who pointed him out as the abductor of Charlie Ross and people who thought he was one of the Gad's Hill robbers, and over fifty respectable men asked him why he didn't get the other one blacked so as to have a pair, - Erchange.

BREAKFAST.

BY A THOROUGH KNOW LEDGE OF the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the flue properties of well-selected eccos, Mr. Epps has provided one breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a countitation may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maindies are flosting around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Bee article in the Civil Service Gazette.
